76 CHILL OCTOBER

A view on the Tay, representing a backwater, with a fringe of reeds along the bank in the foreground; in the middle distance is a spit of land covered with willows, and beyond it the river is seen winding away toward distant hills, with woods on the bank to the right; cloudy sky, with gleams of light appearing over the hills 5040.

"Chill October was painted from a backwater of the Tay, just below Kinfauns, near Perth. The scene, simple as it is, had impressed me for years before I painted it. The traveller between Perth and Dundee passes the spot where I stood. Danger on either side—the tide which once carried away my platform, and the trains which threatened to blow my work into the river. I chose the subject for the sentiment it always conveyed to my mind, and I am happy to think that the transcript touched the public in a like manner, although many of my friends at the time were at a loss to understand what I saw to paint in such a scene. I made no sketch for it, but painted every touch from Nature on the canvas itself, under irritating trials of wind and rain. The only studio work was in connection with the effect"—Note by the Artist.
